Albums that last!

rekkorder's sound didn't just appear overnight – it grew, shifted, and fought its way into existence.

BREAKING SILENCE (2016)

With their 2016 debut album Breaking Silence, the band made a bold entrance into the alternative rock scene: raw, emotional, and full of urgency.

ONE (2021)

In 2021, they returned with One – a more refined, yet no less powerful record that showed how far they had come.

Two albums, each with its own edge, united by the band's unmistakable identity: hard guitars, honest lyrics, and an uncompromising energy that defines rekkorder to this day.

No Borders. No Limits. Just Rock - Live on Video.

rekorder are no strangers to international stages – and sometimes, those stages are far from ordinary. From club shows in Hamburg to festival slots across Germany and Luxembourg, and even concerts for deployed troops in Afghanistan, Jordan, and Mali, the band proves they're willing to bring their sound wherever there's a stage – no matter how far or unexpected.

These live performances, captured in powerful videos, show rekorder's ability to connect – no matter where we are or who we play for. Because some stories deserve to be heard loud.

The story behind rekkorder

Founded in 2015 in Hamburg, Germany, rekkorder have made a name for themselves with their explosive mix of Alternative Rock and Nu Metal – combining driving riffs, powerful grooves, electronic textures, and a fierce female voice that cuts right through.

From small clubs to international stages, rekkorder have played over 150 shows across Germany and Europe – and even far beyond: as part of concert missions for German and international troops, they brought their sound to countries like Mali, Jordan or Afghanistan.

Their debut album Breaking Silence (mastered by Scott Hull, Masterdisk NYC) laid the foundation and defined their sound – a gripping blend of heavy guitars, driving drums, and electronic textures.

Since then, they've released new material, high-quality music videos, and the 2021 album One further refining their sound and visuals.

In 2024, a new voice joined the band: Merle Friede brings a new energy and presence, setting the tone for rekkorder's next era. With their modern, dynamic mix of rock, metal and electronic elements, the band is now gearing up for a packed 2025 – new songs, new album, and a stage show that hits hard and gets people moving.
